

Dear Friends in Old Town Fairfax,

Each and every one of you has always made the City a second home for all of us. You've literally given us a place at your table, lifted us up when we were down, and opened your doors to us when we desperately needed respite. You've been so good to us. You've treated us like family. We will never forget that.

It's been a horrible year. Besides being terrified of getting sick, I know you've lost sleep about where we'll be in a week, a month, a year from now. But you've shown us over the years that we are stronger together. We have the power to save each other. So now, it's our turn.

Thanks for having us in your streets on May 22. We hope our family, friends and patrons will show you all the kindness you've shown us. We want you to see that you're not alone. We support you. We've got your back.

Thanks for making this place the best little block in the world.

See you in the streets,

Deb Wright
